

Table of Contents

Introduction	XI
List of Abbreviations	XIII
About the Authors	XVII
Chapter 1. Sources of Polish Collective Employment Law
(Krzysztof W. Baran)	1
1. The concept and hierarchy of sources of labour law	1
2. General sources of labour law	3
2.1. Constitution of the Republic of Poland.....	3
2.2. Acts/laws (Ustawy)	6
2.3. Regulations (Rozporządzenia).....	7
3. Specific sources of collective employment law.....	8
3.1. Introduction.....	8
3.2. Collective agreements.....	13
3.2.1. Legal nature of collective agreements.....	13
3.2.2. Personal scope of collective agreements	14
3.2.3. Material scope of collective agreements.....	16
3.2.4. Procedures for the conclusion of collective agreements.....	19
3.2.5. Registration of collective agreements.....	21
3.2.6. Entry of collective agreements into force.....	24
3.2.7. Transformations of collective agreements	25
3.2.8. Termination of collective agreements	26
3.2.9. Supra-company (multi-establishment) collective agreements (ponadzakładowe układy zbiorowe pracy)	27
3.2.10. Company-level collective agreements (zakładowe układy zbiorowe pracy)	30
3.3. Agreements on the application of a collective agreement.....	33
3.4. Agreements on suspension of provisions of labour law	34
3.5. Agreements on application of less favourable terms and conditions of employment	39
3.6. Teleworking agreements.....	43
3.7. Social agreements (porozumienia społeczne).....	43

Table of Contents

Chapter 2. Functions of Collective Employment Law (Krzysztof W. Baran)	45
1. Introduction	45
2. Protective function of collective employment law.....	46
3. Organisational function of collective employment law	53
4. Ironic function of collective employment law	60
5. Redistributive function of collective labour law	64
6. Order-keeping function of collective employment law.....	67
Chapter 3. Freedom of Association (Krzysztof W. Baran)	73
1. Introduction	73
2. Freedom of association in trade unions and employers' organisations.....	74
2.1. Freedom of association in trade unions	74
2.2. Freedom of association in employers' organisations.....	78
3. Models of organisation of workers' and employers' movement	81
4. Independence of trade unions and employers' organisations.....	84
5. Self-governance of trade unions and employers' organisations	87
Chapter 4. Legal Status of Trade Unions (Krzysztof W. Baran)	93
1. Formation of trade unions	93
2. Registration of trade unions	94
3. Functions of trade unions	97
4. Legal protection of trade unionists	100
Chapter 5. Powers of Trade Unions (Krzysztof W. Baran)	115
Chapter 6. Legal Status and Competences of Employers' Organisations (Krzysztof W. Baran)	129
1. Formation and registration of employers' organisations.....	129
2. Functions and competences of employers' organisations	130
Chapter 7. Social Dialogue (Mariusz Lekston)	135
1. General remarks	135
2. The concept of social dialogue in the collective labour law	136
3. The classification of social dialogue in the collective labour law.....	137
4. Parties to a social dialogue	139
4.1. General remarks.....	139
4.2. Employers' representation.....	140
4.3. Employees' representation.....	141
5. Subject-matter of social dialogue.....	143
6. Forms of social dialogue	144
7. Institutional social dialogue – tripartite partnership	146

Table of Contents

7.1. General remarks.....	146
7.2. Social partners in the Council of Social Dialogue	147
7.3. Tasks of the Council of Social Dialogue and the manner of their execution	149
7.4. Organisation of work of the Council of Social Dialogue	150
7.5. Regional councils of social dialogue	151
Chapter 8. Employee Participation (Marcin Wujczyk)	153
1. The concept of employee participation.....	153
2. Works councils (employee councils) as an institution of informative and consultative participation.....	155
2.1. Information and consultation as an element of employee participation.....	155
2.2. The personal scope of the functioning of works councils (employee councils).....	156
2.3. Status of works council	159
2.4. Elections to the works council.....	162
2.5. Information and consultation procedure	165
2.6. Status of members of works council.....	171
2.7. Assessment of the regulation	172
3. Ad hoc representatives as a form of employee participation.....	172
4. European Works Councils as an element of employee participation at the supranational level	173
4.1. The personal and territorial scope of the functioning of the European Works Councils	173
4.2. The rules for establishing European Works Councils.....	174
4.3. The rules of functioning of the European Works Councils	177
4.4. Status of members of the European Works Council.....	179
5. Other forms of employee participation	180
5.1. Self-government of workers in privatised or commercialised enterprises	180
5.2. Employee participation in a European Company (SE), a European Cooperative Society and in cross-border companies.....	180
5.3. The professional association as a subject of employee participation.....	183
Chapter 9. Collective Labour Disputes (Krzysztof W. Baran)	185
1. Introduction	185
2. A subject-matter of a collective labour dispute	186
3. Parties to a collective labour dispute.....	189

Table of Contents

4. Initiation of a collective labour dispute	191
5. Methods of resolution of labour disputes.....	192
5.1. Classification of methods of resolution of collective labour disputes	192
5.2. Irenic methods of resolution of collective labour disputes.....	193
5.2.1. Conciliation.....	193
5.2.2. Mediation	195
5.2.3. Dispute adjudication	197
6. Non-irenic methods of resolution of collective labour disputes	206
6.1. Strike	206
6.1.1. Right to strike.....	206
6.1.2. Restrictions on the right to strike.....	207
6.1.3. Principles of organisation of strike	209
6.2. Other industrial actions	214
7. Labour law and civil law liability for strike and/or other industrial action	217
7.1. Introduction.....	217
7.2. Labour law liability for strike and/or other industrial action.	220
7.3. Civil law liability for strike and/or other industrial action	227
Chapter 10. Collective Redundancies (Mariusz Lekston)	235
1. General remarks	235
2. Personal and material scope	236
3. Grounds for collective redundancies	237
4. Collective redundancies procedure.....	240
4.1. Information and consultation procedure	240
4.2. Agreement and regulations on collective redundancies.....	242
4.3. Notification to the employment office.....	245
4.4. Period of notice and termination of an employment relationship.....	246
5. Protection of sustainability of employment relationship in collective redundancies	247
6. Rights of an employee.....	250
6.1. Severance payment	250
6.2. Right to re-employment	253
7. Individual dismissals under the Act on Collective Redundancies ...	255
Chapter 11. Protection of Personal Data in the Collective Employment Law (Dominika Dörre-Kolasa)	257
1. Introduction	257
2. Processing of personal data revealing trade union membership	258

Table of Contents

3. Personal data controller	262
4. Processing of employees' personal data in the context of employer's cooperation with the trade union organisation in individual matters	263
4.1. Processing of personal data in the course of a collective dispute.....	264
5. The rules for the processing of personal data by a trade union organisation as a personal data controller	266
6. Exercise of the right of trade unions to obtain from the employer the information necessary to conduct trade union activities vs. the principles of personal data protection.....	267
Chapter 12. Administration of Justice in the Collective Employment Law (Justyna Czerniak-Swędzioł)	271
1. Introduction.....	271
2. The role of court in the registration of collective labour agreements.....	273
3. Judicial control of the number of trade union members	279
4. The judicial procedure regarding confirmation of representativeness of trade union organisations at company and supra-company level.....	280
5. Admissibility of court proceedings in statutory matters of a trade union.....	281
6. Control of the activities of a trade union by judicial authorities	284
7. Protection of sustainability of employment of a trade unionist	285
8. Administration of justice in collective disputes.....	286
9. Final remarks	288